DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-21 and 24-31 are, drawn to a brush seal classified in class 277, subclass 355.
  - II. Claim 22 and 23 are, drawn to an apparatus for making a bristle arrangement, classified in class 29, subclass 888.07.
2. Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made by a materially different process. It is not necessary to assemble the brush seal inside an apparatus having guides. For example, the separate components may be assembled manually.
3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
4. During a telephone conversation with Brian Hamilla, Reg. No. 38,482 on March 28, 2003 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of I, claims 1-21 and 24-31. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 22 and 23 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-4 and 7-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Datta, US No. 6,536,773. Datta discloses a bristle arrangement comprising a plurality of bristles arranged in a length (FIG. 8). There is a joint (weld located at the outer diameter) securing the plurality of bristles (224) together. The joint extends along the length (FIG. 8). The joint is located at one of the opposed ends of the bristles. The bristles may be metallic (col. 4, lines 53-58). The bristle arrangement is subsequently combined with plates (226) to form a brush seal (FIG. 8). The lengths of the bristles define a circle (arc). The circle (arc) has an outer diameter and an inner diameter with a continuous joint located at the outer diameter (FIG. 8). The pluralities of bristles are grouped in tufts (Col. 6, lines 34-35) the joint secures the tufts together (FIG. 9). The brush seal may consist of multiple stages (FIG. 8).

7. Claims 1-10, 12-20 and 24-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Atkinson et al., US No. 5,106,104.

8. Atkinson discloses a bristle arrangement comprising a plurality of bristles arranged in a length (FIG. 8). There is a joint (weld located at the outer diameter) securing the plurality of bristles (66) together. The joint extends along the length (FIG. 3). The joint is located at one of the opposed ends of the bristles. The bristles may be metallic (Col. 5, lines 25-27). The bristle arrangement is subsequently combined with plates (64 and 62) to form a brush seal (FIG. 3). The lengths of the bristles define a circle (arc, see FIG. 4). The circle (arc) has an outer diameter and an inner diameter with a continuous joint located at the outer diameter (FIG. 3). The brush seal may consist of multiple stages (FIG. 3).

9. Atkinson discloses a method of making a brush seal having multiple stages comprising the steps of providing plates (62, 72, 82, 92) and bristle arrangements (66, 76, 86 and 96). Creating a stack of the plates and bristle arrangements to define the multiple stages and joining the stack to create a brush seal (FIG. 3). The bristle arrangement includes a plurality of bristles (66, 76, 86, 96) arranged along a length and a continuous joint extending along the length and securing the plurality of bristles together. The plurality of bristles is arranged in a circle (arc). The joining step comprises welding (located at the outer circumference of the bristles). The plates and the bristle arrangements are discrete before the stack-creating step. The brush seal comprises a windage cover (64).
